ABOUT NAVAL ARMOR AND GUNS.

Old-Time Ships as Welt Protected as Modera. From Scientific American.)

It is a mistake to suppose that profection was first used in either land or bava wurfare in modern ilmes. On land, a well known, eurthworks and masour; works of great thickness were used, but is not so well known that the sides d ships of war of 100 years ago were i many ways better protected relatively than our present frenchels. The frigate onstitution, of the wur of 1812, was rotected against perforation at the water ne, whereby the ship may be destroyed perforation of her battery space, by which her gan crews could be destroyed etter than the ships of to-day, taking luaccount the guns of her time. At resent the 12-lach gams, using 850 or 00-pound projectlles, are mounted in arrets clothed with 12-lach armor These farrets can be penetrated by 12 inch gons with anything but a very oddique impact at any distunce at which a gun is likely to hit. Similarly, too, the dx-inch gaus of ships, or their seveninch gans, which constitute the next step la the scale, are protected by slx-luci or seven-fuch armor, and this armor can be penetrated by a slx-luch gun ut a great ranges us it is likely to hit it. This rmor is all face-hardened. The front of outside of the armor is glass-hard, while is back is comparitively soft and lough. The armor plate in the course of manu facture is supercurboulzed, that is, its face is impregnated with an additional uncount of carbon, lu a way similar to the ell-known case hardening process, where the outside face of the plate, when red in water, becomes intensely The projectiles used agalust this

If of Boston by planting screens of shrubs he projectlies are hard all over, or shallarly if an armor plate is hard all through, has become no unusual tideg for a rail they will go to pieces or impact. The tough, comparatively soft back part of both plate and projectile tends to hold municipal charters, electric rallways, a the hard part together. In the last few Porto Ricon regiment, and numerous other years the practice of putting soft metal caps on the hard points of projectiles intended to pierce the armor has become universal. There are many theories as to why these soft melul caps ald the pro jectiles in getting through the hard armor out none of them seems entirely satisfactory. tif the fact, however, that the do Increuse the penetration of projection lles, there can be no doubt. In the matter of protection or armor, the hard or coast defences of this country the principle of the disuppearing gan has been utilized in very large degree. The gun, mounted belind a very thick paranet, rises only for a very short space of time when it is to be tired, and disappears on racking levers behind the parapet intmediately apon thring, and is lowled in the lower position. It will be seen that the projection of such gans is very good, but their rate of tire is lessened. Possibly it is true that the rate of thre of large guns s not materially less on disappearing arountings than on others; but as gans grow smaller, the time occupied in their Ising and failing and in alming there hus a greater luliuence, and their rate of tire s seriously diminished. For such smaller lasses of guns in our coast defenses it is launed to use gun shields, which are subtantially armor plates coverlag the gun

We have now urmor-plerchig projectiles leck-piercing projectiles, semi-araior plercing projectiles, common forged and enst steel projectlles, cast fron projectlles brapnel, amt so on, in endless vurlety. As the work the gun, whether ashere o thout, will have to do can be pretty clearly predicted, it would appear us though one, or at the most two, kinds of projecties were enough These would naturally have, the one a high penetrative power, and the other a large capacity for internal charge, glying great destructive power when the shell is barst. No one who has not examined curefully the effect of bursting a shell in a closed space cun have an idea of its destructiveness. A small sixpounder shell of about 21-luch diameter, ontaining three or four oances of powder burst in an ordinary room, and breaking lute 20 or 30 fragments, would probabl destroy everything in the room.

In connection with the abnormal hat has recently prevailed in America und has been reported also this winter many parts of Europe, It is interesting t note that Ladislas Gorczyaski, u Warsaw clentist, has communicated to the Pari cademy of sciences his late solar ob ervations, which throw some light of he cause of low terrestrial temperature His observations coaffrm the variations a the lutensity of the sun's radiation reviously noted at Lausanne, Clarens an leldelberg. According to these re searches, the sidar raillation reaching the earth hus been undergoing an appreclable illimitation for nearly two years. The first marked dimination commenced May, 1902, Increased in the spring 1403, and, though less remarkable during last autumn, the absolute values were still exceptionally low at the opening c

These observations have greater significanco as they accord with the results ob ained by Charles Nordmann and prescuted to the Parls academy in June last. M. Nordmann found by a study of the weather records of widely distributed ropical stations for thirty years, that the earth's mean temperature. Is subject to a cyclical change in an inverse relation to the multiplicity of the sun spots. effect of these spots, he concludes, is to diminish the mean temperature of the earth, while during the epochs of unspotted sun the solar radiation, lucrensen and a corresponding increase of terristrial temperatures is observable in the tropical zone. The Output

THE output is the key-note to profit. In electing upon price at which to sell, a manufaturer, no matter what matter has in offer, considers how make is likely to sell, and buses charge accordingly. It is creasonable, too. of this great Company must be of this great Company must be. The small manufacturer who turns out only a few plamos each month will certainly have to put more for the material in each plano—there is absolutely to doubt about this.

When you consider these fact and put this truth along side is them, that there are only theer companies in the l'uited State who have made and sold its many planes as ourselves—that we haven't a competitor making a high-grade plane whose output is as large as ours—it needs to argument to convince you that quality for quality, you can low cheaper of us than of any one

To the Departed Members and Five of the Original Members of the First Bap-Hat Church, Weymouth, Olven at the Semi-Centennial Observance, February

(Published by special request.) The record of this church contains A double list of worthy names. The number now, in youder sphere is nearly equal to the number here.

With them rennion is defetred Until the Master's call we've heard, Their presence here no more we find, Hut we can bring them plain to mind, tili, what a volume that would be, If all their history we could see, And all they did and bote and gave, This church to found and bless and save The planting of this precious vine Was surely from a call divine, Ily those with gdts and graces rate, Who watched and watered it with care.

When one by one the others came, And shared in labors much the same; 'Till brighter days to them appeared, And early doubts no more they feared.

In joy we reap the golden grain, What worthy models they have been How they avoided strife and sin!

Their wives well suited to this place, Were filled with heavenly luve and grace; In their departments they have led Qoite equal to their feileral head.

These pastors' place none filled full well, As living ones are glad to tell, With ready heart and bands and feet the makes his calling all complete.

'Twas not in numbers nor in wealth, That gave this body such firm health, 'Twas in their strong and sweet accord, And in their union with the Lord. How many months and years rolled found. What Joy these faithful ones have found In all their social walks and ways, And in their public work and praise!

As for the future good they sought. A temple once with gold ilid shine, And long was used, a sacred shrine; But he is place one though less grand Did this outshine; here Christ did stand.

We can but pray that God would fill

How many helpers good and kind, With generous gitts and friendly mind Have helped this church its work to do! And still their ulterings are not few. Oh, may their falling mantles rest On those these faithful ones have blest, As far as they their Lord did please, May children's children follow these

They were not fully sanctified,
A perfect One they took for guide;
Itul note in them no spot cau be,
They must have reached some high degree. Since they are with as here no more, May many see the open door, And all these vacant ranks behold, And many more this church enfold.

The gospel truths they all believed, Its holy rites they all received; Like bescon lights their lives did shine, The world conlessed their work divine. What vacant places now we see ! But, how much ricker heaven must be

What changes in these homes are made What sorrows now sad hearts invade As absent ones return no more, And yet, in mand, we look them o'er. 'Though one by one they passed away, The "roll call" full we make today, Our warfare here no more they share, But now the victor's crown they wear

These sainted ones, how near and dear, How fresh to us their forms appear! Oh, what a gathering that would be If we these absent ones could see! Surviving ones may often meet, Although our list is not complete; In that reunion bye and bye, We sure shall meet no more to dic. May every name recorded here, In God's own book of life appear, And with the heavenly boot at down, And then receive our harp and crown.

When the full hundred years have come, And we in our leavenly home, May undoon ones be gathered here, And richer gifts with crowds appear. Our gatheredfruits we'll freely leave, And precious gospel seeds we'll give, That richer harvests they may reap, When in the grave our losdies sleep. This sanctuary we'll leave here, thus present homes, so sweet and dear, Our mansions Christ for us prepares, And tressures tich in boundless shares.

Then shall we find our joys increased, To welcome many to that feast, From every chine and every land, A holy, happy, sinless band. Heloved friends once more we'll meet, And, best of all, our Saviour greet, And all His ransoned ones we'll see, Where partings rever arose can be. We have no brasted wealth to leave, When we the call on high receive, But choicest gilts may Jesus give, And in It is presence ever live,

Mr. Ackroyds in his report of the Palestine exploration fund, says that saltness of the Dead sea cannot be fully explained by the accumulation of salt from l'alestiae rocks, or by its originally helag an arm of the Red sea. He produces evidence to show that it is largely from the atmospheric transportation of salt from the Mediterranean.

Torpedoes for the destruction of ves sels were first used in the spring of 1861 by the confederates in the James river. In 1865 the secretary of the navy reported that more ships had been destroyed by torpedoes than had been lost through all other ngeacles. Gen. liaines, chief of cided apoa. the confederate torpedo service, placed the monder at 58, more than have been destroyed in all the wars that have occurred since that date.

Although as yet the German and English physicists have been anable to identify the N-rays, Blondlot and the French physicists are devoting considerable time to their atndy, and are giving out new resulta almost daily. One of the important annouacements recently made by Blondlot is that he has succeeded by determinlag the wave-length of these rays, which is exceedingly small, being of the order of 100,000 waves to the millimeter. This would place the rays considerably lu advance of the nitra-violet, a field which and M. and Mine. Curie have been slamihas heretofore remained unexplored.

Hat to drop personalities, the show was quite a suc ress and I hear that Weymouth has asked to have it repeated here. Well, the more the merrier.

SALE OF DOORS. Coming down Park street from th Statchouse today, I stopped outside of a door to look in a rack tilled with books labelled, "Your Choice, 2 cents " Then went in the store and began to chat with the clerks and finally, when leaving asked if they ever sold any books out of the rack and was told that the rack was idaced there merely to get people. To sto and thus enter the store itself. And s another of my ldols was smashed for thought that tids store at least was above any trade tricks.

As the acthor of the work takes place at Nice, during the fete of the dowers, there is plenty of opportunity for a series of brilliant stage pletures which the costumer and scent artist have been quick to grasp. The gowns of the revellers are particularly called the best stuging chorus in America, is nut to many uses. THE ORGANIZATION OF THE OLD Hingham during those years, and there NORTH CHURCH OF WEYMOUTH.

siely, February 24, 1904, by Grorga W. It is not my purpose to discuss church creeds. In this twentieth century there s no time for that. On the contrary, it Is my purpose to discuss for a few minutes the date of the organization of the Ohl

North church-the oldest existing church

organized within our town. I would apreach this subject in the same spirit with which a seeker for truth should study any In most published references to the Old North church, we find the statement, bur gmized in 1623 " given. On Feb. 7, 1904, at a meeting of repre the Episcopal service during that perlo

entative clergymen who assisted in alw erving the semi-centennial of the Baptist church, the date 1623 was Interpreted by the liev. William Hyde to refer to the o ganization of the church of England.

I not sure that no member of the Weg Mr. Barker has been married twice. month Historical Society will deny that the Rev. William Morrell, whom Gilbert than in the Church of Engined," came to Wessagusset in August, 1623, with the Borges' company and organized, or m tempted to organize the Church of Eng-

> Iterature will convince us that the Borges company failed to gain control of the own, and consequently the Church of England became extinct. The Paritan landgration to Weymouth n 1635 ontumbered the Garges' emupany and there is reason to think that thes first settlers were forced either to leavthe town or to repounce their faith Should we not say, then, that no Episco pal church was organized in Weymonti in 1823 and that within the next (wenty years It became extinct? If the Old North church was not or capized in 1623, the question acturally arises, when was it organized? In the address to which reference has already been made, I understood the speaker to say something like this: "As the early reports of the Old North church are not known to be in existence, it is no known when that church was organized. The first part of this statement is true. but the second part, Mr. President, is the secasion of this paper. It too, would be true, were it not for contemporaneous his-turle testimony. Furtunately we have such testlmony In the adjudging town of Hingham, lived the flev. Peter Hohart from 1635 to 1679. Like must clergymen of his time, he kent willnry of the most important events within the range of his immediate mowhelge. in April, 1902, I spent three or four ours ly making a careful examination of each page of Mr. Hobart's diary. The tems that relate to Hingham have been ulilished with some abridgments and missions in the voluminous history of Hingham. Mr. Hohart was an isbserve of a few events that occurred in neighboring towns, and occasionally recorded hose observations with the accurrences of his own parish. On the second page of his illury, I that the following: "January 30, 1639, a church gathered at Weyranth." If this does not refer to the or gaulzation of the Old North church, 1 will be the duty of some other members of our society to show what church was organized in Weymouth January 30, 1639 A study of the context of Mr. Hobort's dlary shows that he used the new style o dating. This would be Jan. 20, 1638 O.S.

Int Jan. 30, 1639 N.S. The scientitle method of expressing this date, Jan. no, 1628/9 is used by our bearned historical sucleties, and avoids much confusion In dates written before 1752. I will give such items as Mr. Hubar ecorded between 1635 and 1662 of concern to us, as preservers of historic truth Weymouth.

"Nuc. 8, 1635 A church gathered at ledham "Jan. 30, 533. A church guthered at

"May 15, 1630. Mr. Hull gave his fare vell sermon. "Sentember, 1633. A church gathere at Ilraintree "November, bils. Richard Brown married Elizabeth Marsh at Weymouth. "May 31, 1857. John Oils fied at Wey-"Aug. 8, 1661. King Charles the Secand prachimed at Boston, with great solemnity." The first Item of Mr. Hobart's diary, doublivss refers to the organization of the First church of Dedham, which, necording to my historical analysis, is the ihlest existing church in Norfolk county -older by about three months than the Old North church of Weymouth, but younger by more than lifteen years than the First Episcopal church of ancient Wessagusset. The second item is my contribution t the history of Weymouth, and does not equite additional comment. The third item relates to the Bev. oseph Hull, who came to Weymouth in Data in the interest of the Church of Eng-and, villbert Nosh in his "Historical" Sketch of the Town of Weymouth," page 158, states that Mr. Hall preached this sermon on May 5, but Mr. Hobart's diary reads "May 15." Mr Nosh further states that Mr. Hall preached his farewell serion "probably at Weymonth." If Mr. Hull preached that sermon at Weymout on May 5 or 15, 1639, it was done betwee hree and four months after the suppose ! ergunization of a Pariton charch here careful restudy of this diary shows that Mr Hobort was in the habit of writing he done, then the name of the person, o hing, followed by the asserting verb, all n one line. When the Item referred t ingham, no place was written; but when e recorded an event occurring natside of Hugham, he generally added the place tillis frent, no place is given in the diary Now it appears that the Hev. Joseph hill took a deed of hand in Weymouth 12, 1636. He also reneived a grant of land to Hingham that same year, and ic was a deputy to the Great and General 'ourt from the town of Hlagham for 1639 and 1c. The fact that his son Benjamin was log tized 21 Mch. 1639 at Hlagham,

Therefore I conclude that he lived it lelivered his farewell sermon. On the other hand, it may be claimed that he and have lived in Hingham and preached to the people in Weymouth during 1638 and 1639. It hardly seems musistent with the history of the times to suppos that he would be allowed to combuct an Episcopal service within four months after the organization of a Puritan church satify all of the comultions is the supposition that Mr. Hull came to Weymouth as an Episcopai clergymen, ami while her imblied the views of the l'uritans. This ever that may be, we can any of n truth that the Hes. Willam Morrell founded the First Episcopal church of Weymout n 1623, and probably the Hev. Joseph thall was the last clergyman to combuc

The fourth item refers to that church now in Quincy) under whose mostern structure rest the remnins of two of the preshients of the United States-a church younger by six months than the Old North hurch of Weymouth. The lifth and nixth items will interes

Mrs. Estelle B. Stanley of Duck Island, Maiae, is attempting to seenre school privileges for the children of lighthouse keepers. There are in the United States acarly 6000 American born children who are neharred from public schools, simply because their homes are away from the main-land and they do not beiong to a township, and hence are not eligible to school pririleges. Two years ago, the Maine W. C. T. U. established a deparcmeat of "Work Among Light Stations," with Mrs. Stanley as superintement. Good work has been done, and she hopes that the next Legislature will pass a law providing school privileges for the three of Maine. There are 1190 light-houses along the Atlantic coast, 200 on the Pacliic, 543 on the Great Lakes and rivers and 34 in Porto Ilico.

This text (If you will look litto it) in plies an poward and upward march: " Pill we all come in the unity of the faith und of the knowledge of the Sim of God into a perfect man, unto the measure of the tature of the fulness of Christ." There is nothing said about the "time" it will take to reach such a goal; I imagine that t is going to take a great deal more time with some of us than with others. This text simply puts before us the true goal of life or in other words, the "growth of a soul;" and some our has had insight enough to say that "the growth of the seal is the one pursuit which makes life, to its very last day full of interest." And dis same writer has said that "we can each grow a soul if we are willing to pay the price." When Chrysostom replied to the threa

It seems to me that If I possessed money enough to purchase such treasures that I should far rather prefer to have the "livebla," process take place after I had purchased than before. Of coarse if you are sure of what you are getting and have a sworn affadaylt as to"the genuineness, etc., it may be all ciglit but in these days when even the heathen have learned to rub and cheat and adulterate it seems to me that one cannot be too careful-

Taiking about cheating. I was entertained a short time ago by friends, living well without the bounds of Weymouth who had recently purchased or rather built for themselves a line new home. Had spent thousands of dollars on its for alshings and had everything fixed up as near perfect as their taste and finances would allow them. They allowed me to roam around and delve into all the old coraers and rucel in their art treasures and various trinkets, etc., that they had dug out of oild corners of the earth. My fricals felt pretty well pleased with themselves and there is no reason why they should not. They called my attenlon to a dream of a rug. A massice piece of work. Heavy, and possessing idors that were ideely aged; thits that were blended with great accuracy. Altingether it was a handsome treasure. But-and there was a large but in it. was not genuine. They had purchased it from a far-oil country and all the while it Referce, Mr. Farwell; mapire, Miss had been turned out by American opera-Thayer; thuer, Mr. Sampson. > Coming from Hoston the other evening before we had fairly left the Boston yards, I noticed just above the hunber yards of the right, a wooden barge or car doat is course of erection. Now, the you know t inve often wondered why that idle land and those idle wharves were not used for shipbuilding jurposes I always hace thought that perhaps the water was not quite deep enough although it must surely ie as deep at bigh tide as the Kennehee river is at Itath and there next month i see they are to laanch three large wooden chooners, each of them being over 250 feet long. From this showing wooden shipbuilding is not dead yet and from all signs that I saw when in Itath a few steeks ago, they are going to have quite a revival in wooden shipbuilding there in the very near fatore. That to get back to Hoston. If the water is deep enough near the lumber yards, what an bleat place it would make for a shipyard. The subject of greatest interest at the present thue, the war between Russla and laman, was the principal event discussed. Prof. Ward explained the causes which led to the war; described the government, commerce, educational institutions and military power of the Japanese hation, and her ability to cope successifully with the great nation, Ilussia; then be trented as fully the government and polities of Russia. The lecture proved ausorbingly luteresting, and the audience was much wiser and better informed on it least one of the events of the day, when the time came to adjoura. After Mr. Goodwin's address, which was enjoyed by all, the subject of a plano or the reception hall was mentioned, as the ladies are to give one for the assembly ball, and a motion was made that a sub scription for that purpose be started. In about half an hour $100 had been raised which amount has since been greatly in creased, and the prospects are good for a plane on which the members may play chorns singing. The people of Weymonth still continue to neglect their opportunities to hear some of the best and most instructive icctures ever given in the town, and last night's attendance was ridiculously small, onsidering the importance of the leebarer. This may be accounted for by the fact that it was not known who the speaker would be until too late for extensive advertising, but still it should be known that on every Thursday evening, ve have an address by a tirst-class speaker. Last night, Mr. C. B. Fillebrown, president of the Massachusetts Single Tax league, gave a very hield explanation of the principles of that feague and the theories an which it is founded, and then for over an hoor was kept husy answering questions. It was a very profitable neeting for those wheattended and much interest was taken in the ambject.

General pleasure will be afforded t theatre patrons in the announcement that next Monday the witty, merry and melo dious musical comedy "Peggy from Paris" will open an engagement at the Tremont theatre in Boston. The only regret ac companying these tidings is the fact that the musical comedy will be at the Tremont for hat a short time. "Peggy from l'aris" is of unfalling entertalmment and to see is one of thuse stage offerings that persons like and hear more than once Indeed, it may be said it never loses its charm and freshness, but is ever enjoy able no matter how many times one attends the performances. George Ade's wit is ceaseless in "Peggy from Paris," e bas never written wittler, or mor laughable lines than in this musical comedy, the characters are droll, the situations amazing, the dialogue sparkling in humor, as for the music, the popularity of the airs in "l'eggy from f'aris" speaks for their catchy quality. The compose s Wm. Loralac, whose "Zumona" and "Salonte" gave him distlaction before he added to his fame by his work in "Peggy from Parls," as for the company, the scenic effects, the stage equipment, the 'l'eggy from l'aris" is under the massuement of Henry W. Savage to know that everything will be of the highest order of excellence. Mr. Savage's name is a gparautee of all that is hest in stage offerings. The engagement at the Tremont theatre will be limited as "Peggy from Paris" is hound for New York. There will be natiuces Wednesday and Saturday.

The Output

Till output is the key-note to profit. In deciding upon a price at which to sell, a manufacthree, no matter what article has to offer, considers how many he is likely to sell, and buses his re is fixely to self, and bisses his charge accordingly. It is quite reasonable, too. If a tailor selfs only two sulfs of clothes each week, his income must come from the profit of these two suits. If he ran, however, double or tre his online without materially ! his onlight without insterning in-creasing his working expenses, he can naturally afford to make the profit on each sult much less. Again, this output decides the buying power. It is only neces-sary to state that there have been manufactured and sold over to prove what the buying power of this great Company must be The small manufacturer who lurns out only a few planos each month will certainly have to pay more for the material in each plano — there is absolutely no doubt shout this oubt about 11:1s. When you consider these fac and put this truth along side and put this truth along side of them, that there are only three companies in the United States who have made and sold as many planos as ourselves—that we haven't a competitor making a high-grade plano whose output is as large as ours—it needs un argument to convince ayou that, omally for quality, you can buy quality for quality, you can buy cheaper of us than of any one

77,000 Emerson Pianos
